Profile

Hi, my name is Jeffy Salim. I graduated from Mikroskil University in October 2022, and my profession is Web Designer. Usually, I design the User Interface first and then enter the slicing stage because UI Design is one of my current skills. I like this job because there are many things I can learn in the IT world, and I can work more in this industry and keep growing. That's why I decided to become a Web Designer as well as a UI Designer as the initial stage of my career in the IT world.

Work experience

Freelancer Stack Code

Stack Code is one of the brands I've used for freelance so far, but I've used my personal name for the business I'm developing in the future.

While working as a freelancer, I created a UI for sale or use for free that can be accessed by many people on the UbLabs.com website. Currently, I'm trying to join as a contributor on the Creative Market website and plan to sell most of the landing pages I'm working on. work on.

Education

Information Technology | Bachelor of Information Technology Mikroskil University

During college, I learned about what code is and how to run a program that is made from code that has been learned. I also learned how to develop a code into the server so that it can be accessed by others. And that is a brief overview of what I learned while studying at Mikroskil University.
